PLANS FOR POWER PLANT CRITICISED

New faces elected to council

RESIDENTS visited polling stations up and down Basingstoke and Deane last week to decide who they want to be on their council.

In total 32,905 people had their say during the ballot, which saw six new faces elected onto Basingstoke and Deane Borough Council.

Labour, the Conservatives and the Liberal Democrats managed to hold onto each of their seats in the vote, with the three major swings seeing independent candidates lose Bramley and Sherfield, Brighton Hill South and Whitchurch.

BASINGSTOKE'S MP has slammed plans to build a power plant in Chineham Business Park, labelling the proposals as "totally inappropriate".

By Christian Wilson

An application was sent to the borough council in March to build the gas-powered plant, which would provide extra electricity for up to 20,000 homes in the area.

Energy giants Centrica are proposing to build five 25-metre chimneys at the site to provide back-up power, with the engines set to run for around four hours a day on average.

But with the business park positioned directly next to children's nursery schools Brighton Horizons and Abacus, Basingstoke MP Maria Miller has called for the plans not to go ahead.

She said: "My key concern is the site which Centrica has chosen for this new power plant, which is totally inappropriate.

"It is next to the busy railway line, a stone's throw from a children's nursery and a fitness centre, and immediately opposite the residential area along Hanmore Lane."

She continued: "The impact on people living here and using these facilities has simply not been taken into account."

A public consultation period on the plans is due to come to an end tomorrow, before Basingstoke and Deane Borough Council make a final decision at a later date.

If granted planning permission, the plant - which would be around half the size of a football pitch once it's built - would take between 12 and 15 months to build.

And while echoing the views of Mrs Miller about the site's unsuitability, Chineham councillor Joyce Bowyer insisted that the construction would "cause havoc" on the roads surrounding it.

"We've had a lot of objections from residents about the location, and I am also certainly not in agreement," said Cllr Bowyer.

"It's so near to houses and is too close to nurseries and schools.

"Traffic from Razor's Farm will be going through the park while all this is going on, which will cause havoc.

"And it's going to be a blot on the landscape, there are so many reasons for not doing it here."

Council vote dominated by Tories and Labour

BOTH Basingstoke and Deane's Labour and Conservative groups held firm to keep all of their seats at last week's borough council elections.

By Christian Wilson

Residents filed into polling stations across the borough to vote on a third of the seats on the authority last Thursday.

And last Friday's count revealed a strong result for the Conservatives as they retained each of their 10 councillors, while also gaining another seat to ensure that they now have 33 members on the council.

Arguably the biggest winners were the Labour group however, who bucked the national trend to increase their number of seats on the council by two to 19 following last year's set of disappointing results.

The Liberal Democrats didn't lose or gain any seats through the vote, which saw a 34 per cent turnout, although Cllr Mike Bound retained his Baughurst and Tadley North seat.

Undoubtedly the loudest cheer of the day came from Labour's Chloe Ashfield, who beat Tory rival Dave George to claim the Whitchurch seat by just 39 votes.

She said: "I wanted to inspire people to vote, so to get a 49 per cent turnout is amazing and makes this a historic day for Whitchurch.

"I've done this for working mums everywhere so I'm absolutely elated."

Andrew McCormick from Labour and Tory candidate Venetia Rowland also claimed seats previously held by independents in Brighton Hill South and Bramley Hill South respectively.

Councillor for Brookvale and Kings Furlong, Jack Cousens, said: "It's been a superb day for the Labour group.

"You are seeing the people telling the Tory council solely and squarely that we don't want to lose our children's centres."

Basingstoke and Deane's Conservative group also reclaimed each of their seats, with the party claiming huge majority victories in Basing, Oakley, Hatch Warren and Beggarwood, Kempshott, and Pamber and Silchester.

Hatch Warren and Beggarwood councillor Dan Putty said: "This means a lot to me to serve this ward for another four years.

"It means that I have earned the residents' trust, which makes me feel very humbled."

In total, the Conservatives won 11 of the 20 seats on offer, with Labour and the Lib Dems claiming eight and one apiece.

Council leader Clive Sanders said: "We've kept all of our seats and gained another so I'm quietly pleased.

Petition calls on council to save children's centres

A PETITION to save Basingstoke's children's centres from being drastically reduced has been signed by more than 1,600 residents.

Hampshire County Council is proposing to reduce the number of centres in the borough from 11 to just one, as part of its county-wide cuts.

By Christian Wilson

The authority is hoping to save £8.5million by culling Hampshire's 54 facilities, as part of plans to bring together the work of centres to create 11 family support hubs.

A public consultation period ended last Tuesday, with Basingstoke's Labour group submitting a petition signed by 1,650 residents opposing the plans.

And while insisting that he was "not surprised at all" by the number of people supporting the campaign, group leader Paul Harvey expressed his hope that the petition would influence the council's decision.

He said: "The people's views could not be any clearer – they don't want the children's centres to close.

"Residents are so angry that the county council aren't listening.

"This will have a huge impact, particularly on young mums, so if they choose to ignore that then shame on them.

"I have to believe that if they're presented with the facts and the voices of mums, parents and grandparents, they'll pay attention."

Only Action for Children at Honeycomb children's centre in Buckskin is earmarked to remain open, while other facilities in Chineham, Lychpit, Oakridge, Bishops Green, Popley, Tadley, South Ham, Brighton Hill, Hatch Warren and Overton would all close.

The county council's executive lead member for children's services, Keith Mans, will make a final decision on the proposals on July 1.

Cllr Mans said: "I would like to thank those that have taken the trouble to complete the consultation questionnaire, either online or in paper form, and return their feedback to us.

"If it is agreed to go ahead with the proposals, local community outreach venues such as community centres and church halls would continue to be used to deliver services locally, in order to avoid families having to travel to one 'centre', or 'building'."

Operational director at Action for Children, Liz Rowe, added: "Our absolute priority is the wellbeing of the children and families we work with in Basingstoke and Deane.

"We know that getting children and families help early can significantly improve life chances.

"We believe children's centre services should and can retain a vital role in supporting children and families in communities."

Memory cafés

BASINGSTOKE: A homecare provider has launched three monthly events to help support people with dementia and their carers.

Home Instead Senior Care has organised the 'Memory Cafés' in Overton, Tadley and Old Basing for sufferers and elderly people looking for companionship.

The Overton café runs on the second Monday of each month from 2pm to 3.30pm at the Overton Community Centre, while the Old Basing café will run on the fourth Monday of each month from 2.15pm to 3.45pm at St Mary's Church.

And Tadley Methodist Church will also host the free event on the third Friday of each month from 2pm to 3.30pm for Tadley residents.

British Bake Off

BASINGSTOKE: Nadiya Hussain will visit Basingstoke next month to take part in Festival Place's annual Eat Street food event.

The Great British Bake Off winner will visit the shopping centre on June 11 and 12 as part of the event, which will showcase a wide range of foods.

Festival Place marketing and business performance manager, Sarah Murphy, said: "We are delighted to have Nadiya involved in our Eat Street event."

MP slams proposals for Chineham power plant

The plant would be operated remotely so that it could step in at periods of high demand within just five minutes, with Centrica insisting that Chineham Business Park is "ideal" for the development.

Consent manager Jen Snowball said: "We've been working hard to identify the best possible site to ensure a minimal impact on the local community, while also providing the access we need to the local electricity distribution network and gas supply.

"The site at Chineham is ideal as it will make use of small section of currently unused land adjacent to the railway line.

"And at less than the size of half a football pitch, it will be significantly smaller than the sites people tend to think of when picturing a traditional power station."

But with more homes due to be built in Basingstoke as part of the borough council's local plan, Mrs Miller fears that this increase in demand would lead to longer opening hours for the plant.

She added: "This would in turn mean more emissions and more noise – all in a residential area.

"The proposal includes building five 25 metre chimneys, which would have an enormous impact on Chineham residents, and particularly those living close by.

"While Centrica says that the emissions from these chimneys would meet current standards, I am very concerned about any emissions of this nature so close to homes and facilities for very young children."

Steps being taken to stop police pay issues

WORK to begin fixing Hampshire Constabulary's payroll service has been labelled a "light at the end of the tunnel" for officers.

A string of damning errors have taken place since the police force, Hampshire Fire and Rescue Service and the county council combined their back office services as part of cost-saving efforts in 2014.

• Chief Constable Olivia Pinkney

By Christian Wilson

Problems with the H3 partnership led to around 1,300 officers being incorrectly paid earlier this year.

The force has also had to fork out £207,032 in March to 3,003 members of staff owed overtime and loss of holiday.

A review was launched by Hampshire Constabulary to identify the cause of the problems as a result, with new Chief Constable Olivia Pinkney revealing that a programme to fix the issue had begun.

She said: "There are areas such as leadership development that are performing well and the constabulary has saved £1.1million in three years as a result of the partnership.

"However, the facts are showing that a one size fits all solution that overly relies on self-service does not always work, and that there are a number of cases where the level of service people have received has not been good enough.

"I am pleased to be able to confirm that as partners we have together agreed to a programme of work to get this sorted.

"This will all take time, and until it is fixed we will do everything we can to manage any issues that emerge, but it will be worth it."

Another H3 payment blunder saw 58 staff from the county's fire service wrongly deducted £11,000 in pension contributions last month.

A survey carried out by Hampshire Police Federation earlier this year found that only five per cent of offices "had any kind of faith" in the service.

And chairman John Apter was quick to praise Ch Con Pinkney for attempting to do something to address the "catastrophic failings of the system".

He added: "This has been a problem ever since it was introduced.

"So we welcome this news and see it as a light at the tunnel.

"All we wanted was a review as we knew that something had to be done as officers do not have faith in or trust their pay slips anymore, which is worrying.

"Police officers have enough to contend with in this job as it is without worrying about whether they're getting paid properly."

New wing opened at hospice

• John Inverdale (front right) was among those in attendance

A NEW wing of the extended section of a North Waltham respite home was officially unveiled on Thursday.

Broadcaster John Inverdale and Basingstoke and Deane mayor Anne Court were among those in attendance at the unveiling of the Daisy Wing at The Bluebells.

The changes to the Popham Lane-based hospice include welcoming communal area, and a well-being and therapy room for parents and carers.

Donations from the Surrey Wooden Spoon and support from Sebastian's Action Trust helped make the improvements possible.

Laura Powell's 15-year-old son attended The Bluebells before his untimely death from a chromosome disorder at the end of last year, and she thanked the home for helping her and her family.

She said: "Being able to have a normal holiday where we could all relax and have fun made such a difference to us.

"I am forever grateful for that time and the photos we have of us all together."

Hampshire elects new commissioner

HAMPSHIRE has a new police and crime commissioner (PCC) after Michael Lane claimed a landslide victory last week.

Mr Hayes was relegated to third place in the results after he received just 60,743 votes, with Labour candidate Robin Price the closest challenger after receiving 87,774.

A total of 29.14 per cent of the county voted, nearly double the 15 per cent who turned out for the first PCC elections four years ago.

Speaking after his victory, Mr Lane said: "I appreciate the voters' trust in me and promise everyone that I will dedicate myself to the role."

Residents rally to stop lorry traffic increase

CONTROVERSIAL plans to increase the number of lorry trips from a digestion plant along a Hatch Warren residential road have been slammed by residents.

By Christian Wilson

A maximum of 22 journeys are currently permitted each day by Hampshire County Council for trucks to pass along Woodbury Road on their way to the Tamar anaerobic digestion plant in Kennel Farm.

This number could now be increased to 38 however following a new application, with residents warning of a possible accident on the road, which contains both St Marks C of E Primary School and Hatch Warren Community Centre.

Tracey Coleman of Heritage Park said: "How many lorry movements can our estate withstand before an accident occurs?"

Woos Close resident Chakib Ayoub added: "Such an enormous increase would have a very serious adverse affect on the health and safety of the local residents."

But Hatch Warren and Beggarwood councillor Terri Reid has insisted that TRPD have "regularly breached" the conditions, and called on the council to punish the company by closing down the plant.

She said: "[My residents] are rapidly losing all faith in the ability or even willingness of Hampshire County Council to protect their safety and well-being, which I would suggest is a greater responsibility of a local authority than meeting 'green' targets.

"We have supplied clear evidence of continual breaches, and yet to date no serious enforcement action has been taken."

The county council's regulatory committee will meet next Wednesday to decide whether to grant TRPB's request to increase permitted deliveries.

A TRPD statement read: "This new application is part of an overall management review to be able to regularise and provide better control of such issues going forward."

Lambs killed

KINGSCLERE: Three newborn lambs were shot dead in Kingsclere last week.

The animals were killed at a farm in Kingsclere Road at some point between midnight and 3pm on Friday.

The lambs were only a day old when they were shot in the field, with police labelling the attack as "heartless".

Countrywatch PC Stephen Rogerson said: "It appears the lambs were shot with an air weapon.

"We are keen to identify the person or people responsible for this cruel and heartless offence.

"Local officers are conducting reassurance patrols in the area and asking that any suspicious activity is reported."

Odiham youngsters ready for a bake off

• The cakes will be designed by master baker Gareth Jones

CHILDREN from two Odiham schools are competing to design a huge cake to mark the Queen's 90th birthday next month.

By Christian Wilson

Youngsters from Buryfields Primary and Mayhill Junior Schools will pit their ideas against each other ahead of a special street party on June 12.

Odiham Cake Company baker Gareth Jones, whose elaborate cakes saw him star in BBC2 show The Millionaire's Gift Guide earlier this year, will then turn the ideas into reality.

"Odiham Cake Company is used to working on some fantastical projects but feeding over 600 local residents is one of our biggest challenges yet," said Gareth.

"There's a terrific sense of community in Odiham, and it's lovely to see the children's excitement and enthusiasm.

Each of the winning designers will get to put the finishing touches to their creations at the shop in Dunleys Hill, before then being presented with a medal on the day by North East Hampshire MP Ranil Jayawardena to mark the occasion.

The competition has been organised by Odiham Parish Council, with the authority's chairman thanking volunteers for making it happen.

Cllr John Hale said: "We couldn't be more grateful to Gareth Jones and the team at Odiham Cake Company.

"This competition will be the centrepiece of our street party celebration to mark Her Majesty's 90th birthday.

"Our street party would not have been possible without huge efforts from our friends at RAF Odiham and the team of community volunteers.

Mayor's thank you message to residents

BASINGSTOKE and Deane's outgoing mayor has written an open letter of thanks to the public.

Kempshott councillor Anne Court's year in the role will officially come to a close at a meeting of the borough council next Thursday.

The ceremony will see Cllr Court hand over the ceremonial robes to councillor for Popley West Jane Frankum – the current deputy mayor.

And after spending 12 months in the role and taking part in over 350 different public engagements during her time in office, the mayor spoke of her pride at representing the borough.

She wrote: "It has been an absolutely fantastic and memorable experience to represent our wonderful town and borough as its First Citizen.

"It has been a real privilege to serve as mayor, and I would like to pass on my best wishes for the future to all of our residents."

The change will also result in new charities being chosen for the Mayor's Charity Appeal, with Cllr Court having supported Ark Cancer Centre Charity, Inspero and Basingstoke Multicultural Forum.

She added: "I have enjoyed immensely working with representatives and volunteers from all three charities."

Chapel Hill plans to go before council

A FINAL decision on how nearly 600 new homes in Basingstoke town centre will look was expected to be made last night as the Observer went to press.

By Christian Wilson

Basingstoke and Deane Borough Council's development control committee was due to consider a reserved matters application for Chapel Hill last night.

But the look of the new housing community, which include 247 houses, 275 apartments and a huge communal open space area, had yet to be decided.

Designs submitted by applicants Sentinel Housing range from two-storey red brick and two and a half-storey buff brick houses, while apartments are light red with balconies.

The application was brought before the committee after Norden borough councillors Laura James and Paul Harvey raised concerns over the costs to residents of maintaining the unadopted grounds.

Cllr James said: "The surcharge for any upkeep of the environment and open space on site would be on top of council tax and as such yet again this is double taxation.

"With so much detail outstanding, we feel very strongly that these issues should be considered by the committee."

The plans would see 128 one-bed, 283 two-bed, 129 three-bed and 38 four-bed dwellings built in total on the 25.6 acre site to the west of Basingstoke Train Station.

Cllr Harvey added: "Nobody is questioning Sentinel's competence at managing the environment and open spaces.

"But on a new development that will be a significant new mixed community the cost of the surcharge will potentially vary house to house and the implications of detail surrounding the management of the site are matters still left to be finalised."

To find out the final decision, go to basingstokeobserver.co.uk or see next week's paper.

Tributes for nurse killed in deer crash

NEARLY £5,000 has been raised to help fund the funeral costs of a Basingstoke woman who died after her car hit a deer.

Nurse Ivory Lapitan was driving along the A33 near Micheldever on April 25 when she swerved to avoid the deer, but instead drove into a tree.

A Gofundme page has been set up to help pay the funeral costs for the former Bishop Challoner Catholic School student, raising £4,845 so far.

Members of The Living God Church, in Popley, set up the page ahead of the donations being given to Miss Lapitan's family on Sunday, with a host of well-wishers paying tribute.

Man wanted after bookies armed robbery

POLICE have released CCTV images of a man wanted in connection with an armed robbery in Hook.

The unknown man approached the counter of the Coral bookmakers in Station Road carrying a knife during the incident last Monday.

He demanded and forced a 30-year-old shop worker to hand over £780 in cash before then fleeing the bookies in the direction of the Tesco supermarket.

The suspect was wearing a black Nike hooded top with the hood up during the robbery, which took place between 9.25pm and 9.35pm.

He also had a black balaclava covering his face to hide his identity during the incident, while he was wearing black trousers and trainers and was carrying an orange coloured bag.

Call for girl power from racer Daisy

BY her own admission, Basingstoke powerboat racer Daisy Coleman doesn't view herself as a female role model.

By Christian Wilson

But it's fair to say that the 29-year-old has shown up those who doubted her suitability to the male dominated sport over the last few years.

The former Army servicewoman has claimed three successive P1 SuperStock top-three finishes as a co-pilot since taking up the sport in 2012.

Along the way she has had to deal with a whole host of different stereotypes and jokes, ranging from her not being able to drive or read a map properly because of her gender.

And Daisy has admitted that it is "a crying shame" not to see more women in motorsport in general.

She said: "I want to raise the profile of this sport because it does seem very undervalued and doesn't get that much exposure.

"Unfortunately women don't have a high involvement in motorsport and whether that's because of gender stereotyping, I'm not sure.

"But I'm not really conscious of any difference and just see myself as another competitor at the end of the day.

"There are some phenomenal women racers out there who do not get the recognition they deserve"

Other than a fishing trip when she was younger, Popley resident Daisy had no boating experience at all before she attended a course in 2012, after injury ended her nine-year service with the Royal Artillery.

So she was understandably "shocked and secretly smug" after being told by seven time powerboat world champion Neil Holmes that she was the only person to pass.

This achievement led to her being selected to co-pilot former champion John Wilson in the P1 Superstock 250 class, with the pair going on to achieve two third placed and a second placed finish before his retirement last year.

Daisy will team up with brother Sam for this year's championship, which will begin in Scarborough next Saturday, and include a race stateside in Jacksonville next month.

And she is hoping that the family bond will help her go one step further this time around.

"To get so close and not win is a bit gutting, but we're quietly confident," said Daisy.

"Moving that fast, you're almost trusting your lives to one another.

"But me and Sam know each other so well that we're advantaged in a way as we'll be able to second guess each other."

She added: "I'm used to working in a male oriented environment through my time in the Army, but it would be good to raise the profile of the sport for women.

"It's a crying shame that women don't get the recognition they deserve in this sport, and would be great to see more involved.

"But anyhow I think me and Sam are going to be a force to be reckoned with this season."

Girls with something extra

A PLAY about the struggles encountered in women's football will be shown at The Haymarket on Wednesday, May 25.

'Girls with Balls' focuses on the life of female footballers Britney, Heather and Ashley, who fight to save their beloved football ground which is set to be demolished.

After countless efforts to save their pitch, the girls come up with one more idea on the day of the demolition, to see if their stadium can stay intact.

"We live in a society where people are spoken to and treated differently because of race, gender, sexuality or beliefs," director Gary Philpott told the Observer.

"Plays like 'Girls with Balls' can only enable injustices to be challenged and society to, hopefully, become a little better.

"And the greatest joy of any theatre-maker is after the final curtain, when you can hear the audience alternating between saying how much they enjoyed the performance and discussing what they had seen."

Despite women's football becoming very popular in recent years, females playing the beautiful game were attracting huge crowds in the early 20th century.

An all female game of football on Boxing Day 1920 attracted more than 53,000 spectators at Everton's Goodison Park.

By James Richings

However, the Football Association was so worried at the lack of fans at men's matches that they took it upon themselves to ban women from playing the sport professionally.

The ban wouldn't be lifted until the late 1960s, and in 1969 the Women's Football Association (FWA) was founded.

Since then, women's football has begun once again to increase in popularity, with the 2015 Women's World Cup in Canada being a prime example as millions of people around the world watched on.

"We took three females, who are all strong characters who used football to move from poverty and the slums and became celebrities for a couple of years," Gary added.

"I particularly like the way the historical element is a counterpoint to the struggles today's women have playing football; a metaphor for battles with authority and sexism."

The play will start at 7.30pm.

Chris Baker

MUSIC: Hemel Hempstead musician Chris Baker will be performing at The Bolton Arms in Old Basing this Saturday, May 14.

The cover singer returns to Basingstoke to perform hits from the likes of Green Day, Robbie Williams, George Michael, The Killers, and many more.

Malcolm set to make some waves

SINCE releasing his debut album 21 years ago, country singer-songwriter and guitarist Malcolm Holcombe has gained a strong following.

And he will show The Forge why he has had a career spanning more than 20 years when he arrives in Basingstoke on Friday, May 20.

Known for his husky voice but soft-spoken songs, the musician from North Carolina will be playing a number of tracks off his latest album 'Another Black Hole', as well as some other hits from his previous record 'The RCA Sessions.'

"The best piece of advice I got when I started my music career was from my father," Malcolm revealed to the Observer.

"He told me to 'not quit my day job' - I didn't listen."

Malcolm is currently making his way across Europe, having visited Italy, Ireland and Switzerland among others over the last few months.

By James Richings

Following his time in the UK, Malcolm will head off to Norway before making his way back to his native America for another long run of gigs.

But it is incredible to think that before the musician made his name, Malcolm was a manual labourer for a number of years.

And the singer, who has released 13 albums since 1995, owes his love of music to one person who knows him very well.

"I first got into music when my mother bought me a guitar from a Sears Department Store in North Carolina in about 1965," he said.

"And if I can give advice to any musician who is making their way up, it is to be honest, be kind and have fun, which will hopefully inspire them to become of service to others."

Tickets cost £15 or £13 for concessions.

The gig will start at 8pm.

DANCE: The Anvil will celebrate some of the most recognisable Motown hits of all time with 'Dancing in the Streets' on Wednesday, May 18.

It starts at 7.45pm.

BEN POOLE AND STEVIE NIMMO
This duel pistol tour features two of the most sizzling soloists on the blues circuit. One evening, two shows. Ben Poole kicks things off with his no punches pulled, "in-yer-face" rock attack. Amongst the most standout blues guitarists to have emerged in the last few year Ben has played with legendary blues artists (and his own personal idols) Jeff Beck, Gary Moore and John Mayall, to name just three. Stevie Nimmo has 20 years of touring all over the world under his belt with The Nimmo Brothers, alongside (you guessed it) his brother Alan. Glasgow born and raised, Stevie is family taught. After a cancer diagnosis in 2009, the resulting surgery led to the loss of Stevie's voice for two years. Not one to be parted from his craft, Stevie spent this period songwriting – which came together as his first solo album "The Wynds of Life". Due to his health, Stevie has had to cut back on his touring schedule, so this is a rare chance to experience the feeling to his gritty Americana blues.

The Land Rover Discovery Sport

By Anthony Yates

EVERYBODY loves a Land Rover because they are, in two simple words, 'brilliant machines'.

Right from the beginning in 1948 it has been the iconic symbol for a vehicle that can handle whatever task you put in its path.

They say 'everyone at some point in their life will be famous for five minutes' – I say everyone at some point in their life will have either owned or at least had some sort of interaction with a Land Rover - and of course why not, because the Queen owns one.

The simple fact here is this; if it has a Land Rover badge then you can be certain that what you are looking at is at the heart of everything British.

POWER AND EFFICIENCY:

The Discovery Sport was fitted with a 2.0L TD4 Diesel engine – with 180bhp and 430Nm of Torque. I have spoken many times about this brilliant engine.

I can't fault it really because it just does everything you ask of it without any drama. Remember the Discovery Sport also weighs 1,884kg and still manages to return 40mpg.

ON THE ROAD:

DESIGN AND INTERIOR:

Land Rover has done a good job making the Discovery Sport stand out in a crowd – many people who I met over the week I was testing the Sport - told me that it was better looking than its big brother, the mighty Range Rover.

I would not argue with that truth be told. Of course as with all Land Rovers of today, the inside is fit for a king with more luxuries than a penthouse suite at The Savoy.

TECHNOLOGY:

Yes – it has lots. Land Rover does not do penny pinching. I could tell you all about it here; but you should see it for yourself.

PRICE:

Base price (on-the-road) £34,200.

Stampede's title stars re-sign for new season

BASINGSTOKE Bison have begun their preparations for next year's title defence by signing two of last season's star players.

Czech forward Tomas Karpov and club captain Aaron Connolly will suit up for the Stampede again after being confirmed for the new campaign.

Both players played a key role in Basingstoke's climb to the English Premier Ice Hockey League (EPIHL) summit and dominated the club's end of season awards as a result.

By Christian Wilson

Reigning Herd supporters' player of the year Karpov will return to the Basingstoke Arena for the third year of his contract after scoring 35 goals in all competitions – a feat that saw him selected in the EPIHL All-Star first line up.

Head coach Doug Sheppard handed the 27-year-old the deal in 2014 after he scored 40 goals in his debut season for the club, with the Bison boss insisting at Tuesday's unveiling that the import star's best years were still ahead of him.

He said: "Tomas continues to be the envy of every coach across the league.

"He has the complete game and I couldn't be happier that once again he will be in a Bison jersey.

"He's such an exciting talent who we know will continue to deliver next season."

Just as crucial to Basingstoke's hopes of defending their crown is the news that skipper Connolly, who picked up both the players' player of the year award and supporters' British player of the year, will be returning.

The 22-year-old led by example throughout the campaign, putting his body on the line time and time again while also claiming a career high 24 goals and 48 points.

He said: "It was an easy decision to re-sign, as Basingstoke is such a great club with such great players.

"I really enjoyed being captain and it was great to lift the EPL trophy.

"I think this club is not finished yet when it comes to winning silverware.

"We are now one of the top teams in the league and once again we will be chasing honours."

Next season will represent Connolly's fourth with the Herd, with Bison boss Sheppard praising the forward for his attitude and ability to inspire his teammates.

He added: "Aaron is a tremendous leader and I think the added responsibility made him even better.

"He is a complete player who brings so much to the team, both on and off the ice."

Unlucky Rose misses out on first win of 2016

JUSTIN Rose was left wondering what might have been on Sunday as two missed shots cost him his first PGA Tour win of the year.

The North Hampshire golfer looked to be in a great position to break his duck as he topped the Wells Fargo Championship with only four holes remaining.

But after sending a four-foot putt for birdie wide at the 15th, Rose then compounded his mistake by repeating the trick on the next hole to claim a bogey and finish one shot shy of forcing a play-off.

Aside from two double bogeys on the 18th on both day one and two, the world number 10 was in sparkling form early on at the Quail Hollow course in Charlotte, North Carolina, to claim a pair of 70 scores.

And Rose looked to be in a great position to win his first PGA Tour title since last April, after birdies on four, seven, eight, 13 and 17 saw him finish Saturday three-under par.

But he was made to pay for his two failed strokes on the final day as he carded a one-under par 71 to end the tournament eight under – one stroke behind winner James Hahn.

Speaking to pgatour.com, Rose said: "I really felt like that was one of the most quality rounds of golf I played in a long time and just made nothing out of it."

Town ground gets charity name change

BASINGSTOKE Town's ground is to be renamed next season as part of a partnership with a local cancer charity.

The Camrose will be known as the Ark Cancer Charity Stadium for the whole season as the Dragons drop down from the National League South.

Ark Cancer Centre Charity is looking to raise £5million to build a cancer treatment centre in the Basingstoke area, with supporters voting for the change at last Friday's end of season fans' forum.

Club chairman Rafi Razzak is a long-standing backer of the charity, and believes that the partnership will represent "another positive development" as Basingstoke look to bounce straight back up with manager Terry Brown.

He said: "I was happy to put this idea to a vote and we would not have taken the proposal forward if the majority of the fans at the forum had not voted to support it.

"Despite being relegated this season, I am very optimistic about the plans that we have both on and off the pitch for next season, and the partnership with Ark Cancer Centre Charity is another positive development."

The charity's director of fundraising, Mark Jones, added: "It is a positive, generous and significant show of support by the club.

"It was great to hear about the positive plans for next season and the charity will be proud and honoured to play a part in helping to raise the profile of the club in 2016-17."

Stokes stars

CRICKET: Basingstoke and North Hants got off to a winning start in the league on Saturday after beating Sarisbury Athletic by two wickets.

Mitch Stokes had a first Southern Premier Division One game as captain to remember as he fired a sensational 107 runs from just 68 balls to lead his side to victory.

The visitors won the toss and chose to bat first, with Sam Floyd hitting 49 runs and Martyn James (4-26) starring with the ball for Basingstoke as Sarisbury finished on 179-8.

But with only Matt King (19) and Daniel Belcher (11) making it into double figures in reply for the hosts, Stokes took control of the tie, with his ton seeing his side finish on 180-8.

The Bountymen are next in action on Saturday when they will travel to face Old Tauntonians and Romsey.

Jam Boys' joy

FOOTBALL: Whitchurch United ended their cup final hoodoo on Thursday to beat Tadley Calleva 3-1 in the North Hants Senior Cup.

The Jam Boys had lost the final in each of the past three years but finally emerged victorious at the Camrose against their local rivals.

Poor opening

CRICKET: Hook and Newnham Basics were left disappointed on Saturday as they lost their first game of the Southern League Division One season.

Spinners Anik Divecha (2-27) and Kevin Poulter (2-26) combined well to bowl Rowledge all out for 176.

But with Josh Buckingham top scoring with just 26, Hook were unable to reach the target as they were bowled out for just 146.

COLLARD ON TOP AFTER HOME RACE

ROB Collard had a homecoming to remember on Sunday as he stormed to the top of the British Touring Car Championship (BTCC) standings.

By Christian Wilson

The Hook-based racer made it onto the podium for the second time this season after putting in a strong drive to finish in second spot in race two at Thruxton in Hampshire.

And the West Surrey Racing (WSR) driver also claimed two sixth-placed finishes to finish the day with 37 points to take him to the top of the championship for the first time since the opening weekend of last season.

The 47-year-old went into the meeting in top form after blowing the field away at Donington Park in the last round to secure the 12th BTCC win of his career.

But Collard looked way off the pace during Saturday's qualifying at his home track as he finished way back in 18th spot – 1.3 seconds behind pole setter Tom Ingram.

He made amends for his poor showing in the opening race 24 hours later however, as he stormed up the grid to finish above WSR teammates Sam Tordoff and Jack Goff in sixth.

And Collard repeated the trick and then some in the next race as his Team JCT600 with GardX BMW crossed the line in second behind Andrew Jordan.

At this point Collard led the championship by five points, but Matt Neal's second placed finish, coupled with a second 10-point score of the day, ensured that both drivers ended the third meeting of the season locked on 101 points.

And Collard insisted that he and 49-year-old Neal's experience was responsible for their lofty position in the table in a season that has seen seven different race winners already.

He said: "I'm absolutely delighted to be joint leading the championship after three race weekends – it's fantastic.

"It shows that age is only a number with the two oldest boys at the top!

"It's experience that's counting at the moment.

"I struggled in qualifying yesterday and went to bed thinking 'my championship's over'.

"But it came back to me on race day."
